Protecting trick-or-treaters

Trick-or-treating is one of the most fun nights of the year for kids and parents, but it is also among the most dangerous.

Practice extra caution with these suggestions from the CDC to protect yourself and your family:

- Swords, knives, and similar costume accessories should be short, soft, and flexible.
- Avoid trick-or-treating alone. Kids should walk in groups and/or with a trusted adult.
- Fasten reflective tape to costumes and bags so kids are visible to drivers.
- Examine all treats for choking hazards and tampering before they're consumed.
- Hold a flashlight while trick-or-treating.
- Always walk from house to house.
- Look both ways before crossing the street. Use established crosswalks wherever possible.
- Lower skin irritation risk by washing off makeup immediately after trick-or-treating.
- Only walk on sidewalks, whenever possible, or on the far edge of the road facing traffic to stay safe.
- Wear properly fitting masks, costumes, and shoes to avoid blocked vision, trips, and falls.
- Eat only factory-wrapped treats.
- Emphasize that kids should enter homes only when with a trusted adult, and to never accept rides from strangers.
- Never walk near lit candles or luminaries.

WATCH FOR CARS. KIDS CAN BE HARD TO SEE.
